

Swamiji's care for his disciples

I always use the word 'you' –
IT does not mean YOU at all.
IT is for any ~~and~~ Seeker. Perhaps in my previous births I had been a Guru & so you comes more naturally than 'I'.
A highly spiritual friend
of mine always used to admonish
me – "you do not know to write things briefly or tell in 20 or 30 words – you write pages or talk volumes. Learn to be brief.
I am yet to learn
IT is done in my anxiety to see that the other party understands what I want to express without AMBIGUITY.

I always use the word 'You' - it does not mean YOU at all. It is for any seeker. Perhaps in my previous births I had been a Guru. So 'You' comes more naturally than 'I'.

A highly spiritual friend of mine always used to admonish me – "You do not know to write things briefly or tell in 20 or 30 words – you write papers or talk volumes. Learn to be brief." I am yet to learn.

It is done in my anxiety to see that the other party understands what I want to express without ambiguity.