

Who is foolish as per our scriptures?

As per Upanishads –
 Foolish only means those who are not aware of God or their spiritual heredity i.e. who do not have any bookish knowledge or even heard about it, that is called PAROKSHA JNANA – INDIRECT KNOWLEDGE

Any saying of a saint, we should take the sentence & shake off all the words & what is left is the real meaning. But when we are Sadhaks we interpret according to our level & that IS the correct interpretation for our Sadhana purpose (it need not be for others). There is a Vedic story how THE WORD Da uttered by Brahma was interpreted differently by MEN, ASURAS & GODS.

DAMADHWAM – CONTROL YOUR SENSES
 DATTA – GIVE & GIVE
 DAYADHWAM – SHOW COMPASSION

As per Upanishads –

Foolish only means those who are not aware of God or their spiritual heredity i.e. who do not have any bookish knowledge or even heard about it, that is called Paroksha Jnana – Indirect knowledge.

Any saying of a saint, we should take the sentence and shake off all the words and what is left is the real meaning. But when we are Sadhaks we interpret according to our level and that IS the correct interpretation for our Sadhana purpose (it need not be for other) – There is a Vedic story how the word 'Da' uttered by Brahma was interpreted differently by Men, Asuras and Gods.

Damadhwaam	–	Control your senses
Datta	–	Give and Give
Dayadhwaam	–	Show compassion